CONSERVATION BIOLOGIST EXPERT TO SEPAK AT WESTERN

St. Joseph, Mo. —March 6, 2003— Dr. Brian Czech, a conservation biologist with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, National Wildlife Refuge System in Washington D. C., will speak on April 8 at 8 p.m. in the Warren E. Hearnes Learning Resource Center room 102. The event is part of the department of biology's Conservation and Natural Resources Management Seminar Series.

Dr. Czech is the author of many scientific publications and is the author of a book on neoclassical and environmental economics entitled "Shoveling Coal for a Runaway Train." This book will be on sale at the seminar for $10. For more information about the book, visit <http://www.ucpress.edu/books/pages/9057.html>.

Dr. Czech's visit is jointly sponsored by the Expanding Horizons Program, the department of biology's student chapter of the Wildlife Society and the history, philosophy and geography department's ethics and public policy seminar series.

To reserve a copy of the book or for more information on the seminar, please contact Cary Chevalier at cchev@mwsc.edu or call (816) 271-4252.
