WESTERN HIRES RISK MANAGER

St. Joseph, Mo. —May 18, 2003—Timothy J. Kissock began serving as a risk manager at Missouri Western State College April 21.

“I hoped to combine my legal experience and my insurance background, and this will be the perfect opportunity to do that,” said Kissock. “The combination of the two should benefit the college.”

The risk manager’s responsibilities include processing liability claims and directing the worker’s compensation program. He will also manage the college’s property insurance policies.

Kissock, a native of Fort Collins, Colo., earned a bachelor of business administration from St. John’s University, New York, New York, and a juris doctorate degree from the University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Law. Prior to joining the staff at Western, he was the assistant city attorney for St. Joseph.

Missouri Western State College is a four-year public institution providing a blend of traditional liberal arts and professional degree programs. The college offers student-centered, high quality instruction that focuses on experience-based learning, community service, and state-of-the-art technology. Western is located in St. Joseph, Mo. and is committed to the educational, economic, cultural and social development of the region it serves.
