

Academic Honesty Policy and Due Process

Academic honesty is required in all academic endeavors. Violations of academic honesty include any instance of plagiarism, cheating, seeking credit for another's work, falsifying documents or academic records, or any other fraudulent classroom activity.

Violations of academic honesty may result in a failing grade on the assignment, failure in the course, or expulsion from school. When a student's grade has been affected, violations of academic honesty will be reported to the Provost or the designated representative.

Violations of Academic Honesty

Violations of academic honesty include, but are not limited to, the following activities:

1. Copying another person's work and claiming it as your own;
2. Using the work of a group of students when the assignment requires individual work;
3. Looking at or attempting to look at an examination before it is administered;
4. Using materials during an examination that are not permitted;
5. Allowing another student to take your exam for you;
6. Intentionally impeding the academic work of others;
7. Using any electronic device to transmit portions of questions or answers on an examination to other students;
8. Using any electronic device to improperly store information for an exam;
9. Knowingly furnishing false information to the University or its representatives.
10. Assisting other students in any of the acts listed above.

Definition of Plagiarism

Plagiarism is a specific kind of academic dishonesty in which you take another's ideas or words and claim them as your own. When you draw on someone else's work, you must indicate the source of that material, whether you are repeating another's words, argument or thought. Even if you paraphrase another's work and are not using the exact wording, you are still required to indicate the source of the material. This material must be clearly identified with appropriate citations. If you do not do that, you have plagiarized those materials. Any time you copy and paste any writing that is not your own for an assignment, you must use quotation marks and give the source of that material. If you cut and paste without noting what you have done, you will be guilty of plagiarism. Even if the writing is your own, if it has been used for a previous assignment that should be indicated.

Student Due Process Procedure

A student accused of academic dishonesty will first meet with the faculty member who made the allegation of academic dishonesty. If the faculty member decides academic dishonesty occurred, consequences could include giving the student a zero on the assignment, asking the student to rewrite the assignment, or failing the student in the course. If the student's grade is affected, the faculty member must file a MWSU Academic Honesty Violation Report. If the student disagrees with the faculty member's decision, the student may submit a written appeal of that decision within ten days to the department chairperson and request a meeting with the department chair. In the event there is no assigned chairperson, the request should be made to the college dean. The chairperson's decision shall be provided in writing to the student and faculty member within ten days. Should the student or faculty member disagree with the chairperson's decision, a written appeal may be made within ten days to the Provost or designated representative to present the case to the Academic Honesty Committee. The Committee will base its decision on the written statements and evidence submitted by the student and the faculty member. The Committee's decision, which must be made within 30 days, is final. If it is determined that no violation of academic honesty has occurred, the student's alleged violation will be removed from his or her record.

Any student who has been found guilty of violating the academic honesty policy a second time will be reported by the Provost to the Dean of Student Development for disciplinary action. (March 2006)
