Welcome

Hey, how's it going. In this class you will study the academic argument. We will learn how the argument cannot exist without a counter-argument, why the art of compromise is so critical today, and how to conduct successful research so these arguments and counter-arguments are valid.

Texts/Required Materials

Graff, Gerald and Cathy Birkenstein. "They Say/I Say: The Moves That Matter in Academic Writing." New York: W.W. Norton, 2006.

Quinn, Daniel. "Ishmael." New York: Bantam/Turner, 1992.

An open mind/ability to examine alternative viewpoints

Assignment Overview/Grade Breakdown

You will write four main papers over the course of the semester, in addition to other informal writings you will do in and out of class. I will give you a detailed assignment sheet before we begin each task.

Argument/Counter-Argument Paper: 10%
Finding a Common Ground Paper: 10%
Annotated Bibliography: 20%
Ishmael-Related Research Paper: 25%

You will also be graded on your participation in class discussions and the three debates [\[2\]](#) we have scheduled for the semester.

Overall class participation: 35% [\[3\]](#)

Absence/Tardiness Policy

In order to improve student learning as well as to achieve compliance with federal financial aid policies, Western has a mandatory attendance policy for all 100- and 200-level courses for Fall 2009.

You will be given an excused absence when acting as an official representative of the university, provided you give prior written verification from the faculty/staff supervisor of the event.

All other absences will be deemed unexcused. The maximum number of unexcused absences allowed for this class before the midterms (October 12) is five. Thus, when you have six unexcused absences you will be reported to the Registrar's Office, who will automatically withdraw you from this class. The Financial Aid Office will reduce financial aid as appropriate.
th

You are responsible for all material covered and assignments given during your absence.

If you know you are going to be absent on a particular date when an assignment is due you must turn it in ahead of time. Any work missed in class cannot be made up if the absence is unexcused.

My policy on tardiness is that it's disrespectful.

Communication/Community

Especially in an English class, especially in an English class that focuses on argument, communication is central. We will have a range of discussions, and I look forward to your participation. Good communication encourages community, and hopefully that is what we will form through our creative and critical discussions.

The best way to get in contact with me is through email, though calling during office hours also works pretty well. I check my email Monday through Friday. It is important you ask questions when they arise and stay in steady contact with me. Make sure your university email account is active.

Please remember Missouri Western requires all students to help maintain good conditions for teaching and learning. All students will treat their classmates, teachers, and student assistants with civility and respect, both inside and outside the classroom. Anyone who violates Missouri Western's policy on Civility and Cooperation will be asked to leave my classroom.

Student Disability

Any student who has a disability should contact Missouri Western's special needs coordinator for possible certification of special needs and expert recommendation for assistance. We can discuss class requirements.

Academic Honesty Policy

Academic honesty is required in all academic endeavors. Violations of academic honesty include any instance of plagiarism, cheating, seeking credit for another's work, falsifying documents or academic records or any other fraudulent classroom activity. Cheating and plagiarism are not acceptable. If there is evidence of cheating or plagiarism, you have the burden of showing that the paper has in fact been written by you. You should keep thorough evidence of your writing processes for all papers so that you can meet this burden of proof. You will receive a grade of F (0 points) for any paper/assignment/exam that shows evidence of cheating and/or plagiarism. If you plagiarize a paper, you forfeit the right to revise that paper; if you cheat on an exam, you will not be allowed to retake the exam. Violations of academic honesty will be reported to the Provost of the designated representative on the Academic Honesty Violation Report Forms. Please see the 2007-2008 Student Handbook and Calendar for specific activities identified as violations of this policy and student due process procedure. This handbook is also available online at <http://missouriwestern.edu/handbook/index.pdf>.

Misc./Inspiration

- I do not want to see or hear your cell phone, iPod, BlackBerry, or any other electronic during class. It is disruptive to the learning environment, not to mention a touch impolite. Keep them off and out of the way. I reserve the right to mark you absent if you pay more attention to an overpriced gadget as opposed to the glory of education. If, for some reason, you need to keep your phone on during class, please see me prior to class starting.
- If you must turn in something late, it will go down by one letter grade for everyday the assignment is late.
- A class learns to teach itself.
- Don't mistake kindness for weakness.
- Writing is a process.

Week 16 Final Exams

[1] For a brief time in the nineties, blaming a computer for lost/corrupted work was acceptable, but it became overused and is now considered hackneyed. Save your work in several places, as this excuse will not be tolerated on due dates.

[2] If you miss a debate, you must write a 2-3 page paper in order to receive credit.

[3] Class participation includes your critical input to discussions, debates, quiz grades, preparedness for class/conferences, general alertness (read: not sleeping. I reserve the right to mark you absent if you sleep through class), contributions to group work, workshops, paying attention to your peers/me, not interrupting, not texting, exercising civility, asking questions which spark intelligent dialogue, and contributing to the greater good.
