

STUDENT HONORS ORGANIZATION

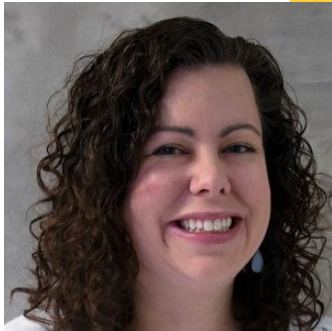

The Student Honors Organization had their final meeting of the semester on April 17th, 2018. To celebrate the end of the year, members played a fun Campus Photo Scavenger Hunt game. Afterwards, the officers awarded members with prizes based on their attendance points accumulated during the past year. Newly elected President for the 2018-2019 year, Kelly Oliphant, said that she thought the meeting was a “nice way to wrap things up for the year,” and she is excited to “have an equally successful and fun time with the organization next year.”

NEW HONORS COMMITTEE MEMBER

The Honors Program would like to welcome the newest member to our committee, Rebecca Foley. She has been an Associate Professor in the Art Department since 2009 at Missouri Western, teaching all levels of photography classes. She is also Director of the Potter Art Gallery! She graduated with her Bachelor's Degree in Studio Art and English from Rice University. She continued her education at Indiana University, which is where she completed her Master's degree in Fine Arts. We think she will be a great asset to the Honors Program Committee. Welcome aboard, Professor Foley!

COLLOQUIA SPOTLIGHT

This semester Dr. Barta and Dr. Svojansky taught a colloquium about the wonders of the plant world. This colloquium focused on the importance of plants and how they can be useful in many different fields of study, including medicine. The students had great things to say about this class. One student, Leo Derr, said that "being in this honors colloquium has really allowed me to expand my horizons and explore topics outside of my major that I would not have thought to study." Overall, this was a very successful course.
