Measuring for Manufacturing

Nov. 9th - 13th. 8am to 10am daily

Only $249

This is an excellent choice for all production workers within a manufacturing facility, especially operators and inspectors. QA & QC professionals can brush up on their metric conversions as well as maintenance and repair workers. Anyone who has or will have a job description that involves measuring should take this in-depth course to better understand what affects measurements with different tools and materials and how to ensure accurate dimensions.
